The horoscope of the Lunar month

In the Middle Ages it was not easy for astrologers to calculate the positions of the planets months or even years in advance. The number of mathematically and astronomically highly specialized astrologers was small. Therefore, a different technique was used for the forecast.

With the help of astrolabes and later telescopes, a new horoscope was calculated exactly for the day and the minutes of the sun's return on the birthday. This new horoscope was called the Solar Revolution or Solar for short, the interpretation of which was symbolic of the new year.

The Lunar was then calculated in a similar way in later centuries. The basis of the calculations is the return of the Moon to its position at the time of birth. Lunar horoscopes are effective for about four weeks and are ideal for short-term astrological forecasting.

During a year, the Moon goes through all the signs of the zodiac twelve times. A month is roughly equivalent to one orbit of the Moon. The face of the Moon changes every day. Beginning with the dark new Moon, its crescent grows larger and larger for a week until the waxing crescent. Another seven days and it's a full Moon.

After the third week we will see the crescent of the waning crescent Moon in the sky. And after four weeks it has completely disappeared: new Moon. After that, this cycle begins again, month after month.

Our feelings are just as fluctuating, constantly changing and renewing as our nocturnal heavenly companion. Beyond the big cycles of our lives, we are right in the middle of everyday life and constantly experience changes, like the ever-changing face of the Earth's satellite.

Much is repeated over and over again, from new Moon to new Moon and from full Moon to full Moon. For example, every month we check at the end of the month whether our monthly salary or monthly pension has been received so that we can make periodic payments such as rent and telephone.

We also experience the four-week cycle of the Moon physically, for example in the alternation between ovulation and menstruation during a woman's period.

The Lunar is a predictive instrument in astrology that is primarily geared towards this everyday occurrence. Calculated on the return of the Moon to its position in the Radix (Latin: root), the birth chart, a completely new chart is created.

It also has an Ascendant aligned to the eastern horizon and a center of heaven pointing south, d. the medium Coeli, as well as the twelve heavenly houses, the lights sun and Moon, as well as planets and other celestial factors.

These horoscope factors symbolize the various cosmic energies that are also dormant within us. Depending on how they look at each other (Latin: aspicere), they affect each other in different aspects. Depending on their geometric orientation, the angular connections either have a beneficial or a hindrance effect, they either make the interaction of the different forces easy or challenge us to grow with difficulties.

Of course, the Radix birth chart must always be taken into account when interpreting the Lunar monthly chart. No one goes into the future completely unprejudiced and unencumbered. From the time of birth, everyone carries their innate personality structures with them. But at the same time you experience something, have experiences and consequently change.

Modern astrology also takes this interaction between disposition and behavior into account. In the year of reunification, the famous American astrologer Robert Hand put it in a nutshell in a lecture at the first all-German astrology congress: "I am a process, developing in time".

Man as a process, livingly developing over time, and yet always remaining the same. Likewise, the Moon appears, whose face in the sky changes night after night, but which is also always the same, from month to month.

At the beginning of the following forecast interpretations it is about the Lunar MC, the current main topic and goal of the forecast month.

In this context, of course, we must once again recall the purpose of life as revealed in the Medium Coeli of the Radix, the center of heaven at the time of birth. The aspects of the currently current stars, d. those of the Lunar, are taken into account.

The same goes for the Lunar Moon. He is of course in the same sign of the zodiac as in the Radix. But now he is probably in another house, but definitely in a different aspect to the current planetary positions. His position on the Radix chart is also important.

It continues with the interpretation of the Lunar Ascendant, Lunar sun and Lunar planets, including the planetoid Chiron and the position of Lilith, the black Moon.

The current planetary constellation of the Lunar is thus compared to the basic personality structure of the Radix. In this sense, the Lunar forecast also serves a little bit of self-knowledge. May the esteemed readers know what they want to be, so that they may become what they are.

The goal of life

The middle of the sky in the birth chart provides information about our goal in life. What job do we want to do? What vocation do we feel within ourselves? Where are we going? What is difficult to achieve, but desirable for a fulfilling life?

In the Radix chart of all people born in the northern hemisphere of this earth, the middle coeli is in the south, exactly where the ecliptic, the ring of the signs of the zodiac, forms its highest point. Before we go into the prognosis, let's first see which sign of the zodiac was in the middle of the sky at the time of birth.

Radix MC in the signs

MC<sup>Rad</sup> ♈

Assertiveness, strived for lifelong

Born with the center of the sky in the sign Aries, you don't necessarily want to be the only one or play the boss. Of course you want to be the first! Standstill and stagnation are hard to bear. It's like overcoming a faint, waking up from a long, comatose sleep. All forces are needed to break through from the dream world into everyday reality. Only those who are wide awake can make their dreams come true.

You strive throughout your life to come into contact with people who enable you to create in the here and now. You love a powerful, courageous atmosphere, want to drive your wedge into the world and are not afraid to take risks. The desire to assert oneself and one's ideas is strong.

It almost doesn't matter what kind of job it is. You could work on an oil rig, be the CEO of a pioneering company, or be a soldier fighting on the front lines.

The only important thing is that action is taken and that something new is created. What is new will certainly not be perfect. It's raw and imperfect in a way. Criticism cannot be avoided. Change requests will be made and concerns will be raised. Doubts rise. And then, of course, there are those who take over the project, take over the company that has been created out of the ground, occupy the conquered space and spread out. It is only right for them that you, the initiator, have long since moved on to where no one dares to go, where pioneering work needs to be done.

Active action is an overall goal that you consciously or unconsciously aim for throughout your life. Now let's turn to the sub-goal that you should focus on right now for a few weeks.

Security, striven for life

Born with the center of heaven in the sign of Taurus, one would like to be able to enjoy life with all its comforts in peace. Good food, a full bank account, property and, if possible, a house of your own give you peace of mind and a sense of security. Stress and hectic, however, disturb this idyll. Constant changes and the associated uncertainty are poison for real connoisseurs.

You prefer a relaxed and sensual atmosphere and do not want to be forced into the situation. The general conditions should remain the same as far as possible and, above all, be calculable. Then you can confidently indulge in the pleasures.

Consequently, you strive for prosperity and stability throughout your life. This includes a steady job, stable interpersonal relationships and a healthy body. These are very long-term goals that cannot be achieved overnight. And once you have finally made it, it is important to maintain and secure the status.

They are willing to humble themselves and limit themselves for long periods of time. If you want to achieve prosperity in the long term, you save the small change from your mouth every day and then invest it when it is really worthwhile. And job security is achieved by adapting to your colleagues and employees as much as possible and protecting each other.

This is how you build a stable network that will last in times of crisis. And if you want to build a house, you don't go to the cinema or pub and prefer to entertain your guests at a later date, in your own home.

Calm security is an overall goal that you consciously or unconsciously aim for throughout your life. Now let's turn to the sub-goal that you should focus on right now for a few weeks.

MC<sup>Rad</sup> II

Agility, strived for throughout life

Born with the center of heaven in the sign of Gemini, you want to flutter back and forth like a butterfly, keep making new contacts with people and, above all, experience something new every day. This requires a certain flexibility, for example in dealing with the language or in the use of technical devices.

They are particularly interested in modern communication technology, telephone and internet. tightness crushed. In a stuffy and restricted atmosphere one would get no air, one would suffocate mentally and spiritually.

And so you strive for mobility throughout your life. A job that requires you to be around people all the time, such as a reporter, can keep you from rusting, freezing, or possibly even becoming silent. Movement in space and floating in the world are vital to you. That's why you break out every now and then, leave your traditional milieu, change your points of reference and expand your circle of contacts.

A nervous mind will not stand still. You need friction and exchange with others. Physical and mental agility are vital for you. Again and again you have to overcome a certain inertia that can set in automatically. Every new contact with interesting contemporaries or every technical innovation fascinates you and gives you the opportunity to expand your intellectual and communication skills.

Communicative strength is an overall goal that you consciously or unconsciously aim for throughout your life. Now let's turn to the sub-goal that you should focus on right now for a few weeks.

MC<sup>Rad</sup> III

Security, strived for lifelong

Born with the center of heaven in the sign of Cancer, one wants to experience interpersonal warmth and intimacy. You want to be hugged, not just for the moment, but for as long as possible, in a familiar environment. You look for people who match your nature and who accept you as you are and not as you are supposed to be.

For this reason, you are aiming for a job or position in the public sphere that offers you as many opportunities for interpersonal contact as possible. The warming and nourishing plays a special role. Some people with this astrological constellation have a completely normal job in which they take care of their work colleagues, the boss and the whole company like a mother.

Healing or educational activities would also be possible. Or you set up a family business. But it can also be the case that you see your own family as a job in itself. However, the lifelong striving for security is not personal. One can also realize oneself by identifying with a higher goal. Belonging to a social group can provide security. However, the need for community can also be lived out in the abstract, for example by identifying with a corporation or its so-called corporate identity. In plain English: you love your company, you make it a substitute for your family.

A cozy nest is an overall goal that you consciously or unconsciously aim for throughout your life. Now let's turn to the sub-goal that you should focus on right now for a few weeks.

Creative power, strived for lifelong

Born with the center of the sky in the sign of Leo, it is by no means enough for you to be a cog in a community or a company. Everything that is in you wants to be lived out and wants to get out into the world, should be applauded and recognized. You have to be seen and noticed. Just don't go sour in the quiet little room or in the familiar family circle!

The need to create in the world burns like a fire. To do this, one is willing to accept many setbacks. And without the echo of others, creative design is not really satisfying.

That's why you're always looking for new opportunities. In professional life and in public, you create creative freedom. The stage of life has to be conquered. audience must be won. The proximity to people who encourage and support you is dear to you. Your creative power wants to be admired and recognized. It is often a very, very long process before you finally find yourself in the right position in society and come into contact with the right people. Doubts about your own abilities and the uniqueness of your talent have to be overcome, over and over again. This is really not easy. But the hope of being able to realize his creative power on a large scale carries you and helps you to overcome setbacks.

Creativity is an ultimate goal that you consciously or unconsciously aim for throughout your life. Now let's turn to the sub-goal that you should focus on right now for a few weeks.

Organizational skills, aspired to for life

Born with the center of heaven in the sign Virgo one is never satisfied with half measures. Instead of improvising at the last moment, it is better to plan well in advance. Sometimes you panic completely, worrying about problems that could only arise in the distant future.

On the outside you show a somewhat worried face. But in reality there is really no reason for this.

After all, there are almost no problems in the present. How? After all, they have already been cleared out in advance.

To ensure that your organizational skills are put to good use, you strive for a professional position in which your diligence is valued. Your detailed knowledge is enormous.

Sometimes, however, you lose sight of the big picture when you look at the little things. And so you work best in the second row, for example as an assistant to the management, in quality control or in the auditing department. There you can prevent undesirable developments from the start.

The organization of complex relationships runs smoothly and according to plan under your leadership. It is not easy to attain a position where your common sense and diligence are truly valued and appreciated. Getting there is difficult, a lifelong process.

Quality and order are primary goals that you consciously or unconsciously aim for throughout your life. Now let's turn to the sub-goal that you should focus on right now for a few weeks.

Interpersonal harmony, strived for lifelong

Born with the center of heaven in the sign of Libra, one always strives to disregard questions of detail and the small things of everyday life. It is no coincidence that there is always a certain superficiality in high diplomacy. This is the only way to avoid unresolved and often controversial points and still come to a solution.

Sometimes it's better to delay the clarification of contradictions so that you don't end up arguing in the preparatory phase.

In professional life and in public, you always seek the greatest possible agreement. Nothing is more dreadful to you than the constant quarreling over trifles. You believe that problems and hiccups can be solved at any time. You just have to be of good will. On the whole there should be agreement. A deep desire for harmony drives you to endure unnerving tensions even over long periods of time.

Often you sit between the chairs. It seems almost impossible not to be torn between the various interest groups. You harmonize wherever you can. It is an eternal effort that is sometimes crowned with success.

Balancing the most diverse interests is an overall goal that you consciously or unconsciously aim for throughout your life. Now let's turn to the sub-goal that you should focus on right now for a few weeks.

MC Rad ♏

Depth, strived for for life

Born with the center of the sky in the sign of Scorpio, nothing is more repulsive than superficial harmony, behind which deep conflicts build up and catastrophes are almost foreseeable.

A constant balancing of different interests is praiseworthy, but it can also lead to complete inability to act. For this reason, people with the MC in Scorpio like to put their finger in the wound. They are completely convinced that a fundamental change is only possible by pointing out conflicts. And you firmly believe that everything will get better after that.

They undoubtedly aspire to a position of power, both professionally and in public. You don't necessarily do this out of sheer vanity. Rather, you believe that there must be someone like you who is able to powerfully move a community or a company forward and initiate the necessary changes without compromise.

You will not always be thanked for your honesty and uncompromising attitude. This puts a strain on interpersonal relationships. Often enough you are made the bogeyman, the black sheep, who is blamed for those unpleasant facts for which completely others are actually responsible.

Given the choice to play either victim or perpetrator, however, you will always take the initiative. Only in an influential position can real change be achieved.

Consciously or unconsciously, the compulsion to be truthful as the ultimate goal runs through your whole life. Now let's turn to a sub-goal that you should focus on right now for a few weeks.

MC Rad ♐

Sophistication, strived for throughout life

Born with the middle of the sky in the sign of Sagittarius, one is driven by wanderlust. You feel foreign and at the same time at home in the whole world. The urge to liberate is strong. And that doesn't just mean material constraints, but also the psychological spider web. You can't bear feelings of guilt. Pressure and coercion are foreign to you. Understanding and understanding across all cultural, religious and ethnic borders, that's what you want to achieve.

People with this astrological birth constellation always carry a certain restlessness within them. They sit on packed suitcases and are always ready to set off for distant countries. For this reason, you strive throughout your life for a job or see it as a vocation to conquer foreign countries, cultures and beliefs. You want to create something meaningful. The education of people and their mutual understanding should be promoted.

A position as a project manager, diplomat in the field, choir director, museum director, tour guide, gallery owner or teacher would be ideal. The goal is the way. The mood of departure alone excites you. You live out your desire to travel geographically, by hiking on the Jakobspfad or to distant continents, or purely philosophically, in the sense of a world view as a spiritual view of the world.

The greatest crises arise when meaning is lost and one can no longer believe in anything. This is why broadening your horizons is so important to you. Tolerance and expansion are overarching goals that you consciously or unconsciously aim for throughout your life. Now let's turn to the sub-goal that you should focus on right now for a few weeks.

MC Rad ♑

Management positions, aspired to for life

Born with the center of heaven in the sign of Capricorn, one has a strong need not only to hope or long for things, but also to realize them in a very real way. You have to be able to separate the feasible from the possible. You have to be willing to make compromises, you have to be able to act in a goal-oriented manner, you have to be able to leave out the superfluous and annoying.

You are not one of those contemporaries who talk too much and raise hopes that then turn out to be illusions. They don't run away when difficulties arise, they don't make excuses.

That is why you strive your whole life to come into contact with really capable people. This means those who have the authority and power to make decisions and implement them.

Of course, it would be even easier if you yourself managed to achieve a leading position in society. To get there, you're willing to exercise tremendous self-discipline. And you commit yourself for just a moment, but for exceptionally long periods of time. Responsibility is an overall goal that you consciously or unconsciously aim for throughout your life. Now let's turn to the sub-goal that you should focus on right now for a few weeks.

Lifelong independence

Born with the center of the sky in Aquarius you want to look at things from a higher vantage point. From there, decisions can be made that can be idealistic in nature. Above all, you appreciate the crystal-clear logic. It is important to you not to be influenced by anyone.

You do not like to become dependent, not even towards those people who are emotionally or personally close to you. Only with a completely clear view are you able to really understand a situation objectively and act accordingly.

The position in society, the vocation or the profession itself is particularly important for you. They are willing to forego any personal advantages, for example in material terms, if this involves a great deal of personal freedom.

On the other hand, with this astrological constellation it is also conceivable that you would strive for great financial prosperity if this gives you the freedom to realize really important projects. You give priority to matters that are extra-personal in nature. It may be that you promote technical developments that are important for the future of mankind. Or they get involved in social organizations. The freedom of the individual, his independence from material or spiritual constraints, that is always something you strive for.

Individuality is an overall goal that you consciously or unconsciously aim for throughout your life. Now let's turn to the sub-goal that you should focus on right now for a few weeks.

Opportunities to retreat, strive for lifelong

Born with the center of the sky in the sign of Pisces, social status plays only a minor role. Unless the professional position gives a protected space to one's own personality in all its fine and finest facets, promotes the development towards self-knowledge.

Beyond all intellect, the world out there and the world inside can basically only be grasped emotionally, in its very different facets. In this astrological constellation, sensitivity is extremely important.

In order to create space for the inner development of your personality, strive for a professional situation that offers you opportunities to retreat. They do not want to be at the mercy of the pressures of everyday life. If at all possible, shape your position in society in such a way that sensitivity and sensitivities can be optimally lived out.

The position of an orchestra conductor like this as an example. At a gentle wave of the baton, numerous musicians create a soundscape that touches the souls of the listeners. People are seized and taken to spheres that are no longer visible and can only be guessed at.

However, it is also conceivable that you will find yourself in a completely inconspicuous position professionally. It would also be possible in this way to serve the inner development of the personality. These can be healing or pastoral activities. Even retreating to a monastery or to a lonely island would be conceivable.

Introspection is an overall goal that you consciously or unconsciously aim for throughout your life. Now let's turn to the sub-goal that you should focus on right now for a few weeks.

The goal of the month

The birth chart determines the basic structure of the character. And the lines of development and goals can also be clearly seen from the chart. But in order not to become one-track and always use the same methods, you should define intermediate goals that can be used in the short term, for example for a month. It's certainly not bad to switch strategies every now and then.

Midheaven in the Lunar gives information about what position in society the horoscope owner wants to achieve during a certain month.

Above all, it is about being integrated into the community, anchoring and networking of personality. This monthly interim goal can certainly deviate from the big goal in life that is defined in the Radix MC. For example, the mid-heaven of the Radix chart can fall in an emotional and rather passive sign of the zodiac.

And at the same time, in the Lunar month of a given month, an active sign appears at the center of the sky. This is not a contradiction. Instead, you should change your strategy at short notice. The life goal given in the Radix MC is not erased by the monthly goal of the Lunar MC, but only varied.

The signs of the zodiac in the sky are based on the path of the Sun throughout the year. In mid-March, the days are getting longer than the nights again.

This is the start of the spring signs Aries, Taurus and Gemini. Now it's about the assertion, demarcation and opening of the personality, in exactly this order. The energy of the spring signs is primarily physical. Humans should first develop purely physically.

The emotional development begins with the summer solstice. This is when the days are longest and nights are shortest. In the sign of Cancer, people become aware of their feelings. In midsummer with the sign Leo, he feels the urge to give his feelings an external expression. And in late summer with the sign Virgo, that expression is then adapted to the conditions of the outside world.

Autumn begins with the equinox. The night becomes longer than the day again. From this point on, the Moon can also be seen in the sky longer than the Sun. It is a time when the individual realizes that there is a you outside of themselves. For example, other people. You dive into the world of spirit and ideas that can only be grasped and understood in the imagination. The signs of the zodiac of autumn are first and foremost about making contact, which is in the sign of Libra. Then there is attachment to the encounter, in Scorpio. And the expansion and visualization of what was once foreign then happens in Sagittarius.

After all, we experience the longest nights and shortest days at Christmas. One understands that apart from one's own ego, one's own feelings and the partnership with the specific you, there are also aspects of life that go beyond that. And you experience that not only in a two-person relationship, but also in larger groups, in professional life and in society. With the sign of Capricorn, the boundaries between the personal and the extra-personal are drawn. Then in the sign of Aquarius, people experience themselves as part of a large community. Finally, in the Pisces, he loses himself as a whole. At the same time, the retreat into inwardness begins.

All of this, in turn, comes to an end with the spring equinox. The circle of I, feeling, you and society begins anew.

The annual path of the Sun through the ecliptic, the circle of the zodiac, is an energy field. It roughly corresponds to the magnetic field of the earth, the so-called Van Allen belt. The astrologically and at the same time astronomically trained universal scholars of antiquity and early modern times knew nothing about this. However, Leonardo da Vinci, Philipp Melanchthon, Tycho de Brahe, Johannes Kepler and Sir Isaak Newton felt that physics and metaphysics go hand in hand.

Nowadays, the millennia-old theories of astrology can neither be astronomically proven nor disproved. Hardly any professional astrologer is now active as an astronomer. And the astronomers doing research today hardly know anything about the way of thinking in astrology. Natural science and humanities go their separate ways.

Lunar MC in the signs

MC<sub>tr</sub> ♃

Be active, act boldly

During this month your goal should be to become significantly more active. Take the initiative more often. Don't be afraid of conflict. Don't think too long. Get up, hibernation is over!

You are now able to improve your life situation in a very real way. No longer do you have to accept certain unbearable conditions. If you act courageously, you can get out of the victim role.

Surely it will cost you a certain effort. Start showing your colors. Be unequivocal about what you actually want, what you really want. Quarrels and conflicts can break out. You're in the line of fire. But is that really that bad?

If you show your V now, you're being taken seriously. In the end, you'll earn a lot of respect if you don't overshoot the mark and throw up unnecessary arguments. In addition, you will find out how much fun it is to develop your own initiative.

If you get thrown in the way, don't despair. Just try something different. And then something else. Testing is above studying! And shake off unnecessary concerns. Where wood is chopped, splinters must fall.

MC<sub>tr</sub> ♄

Keep calm, don't rush anything

During this month you should aim to gain inner power and strength. Act much more deliberately than usual. Don't let your surroundings dictate the pace. Slow down a little. Curb your inner turmoil. No need for haste. Rome wasn't built in a day either.

It will certainly not be easy at first to rethink decisions twice or even three times. But it's worth it. Some attractive special offers that you have to decide on immediately are not worth it. An oh so good opportunity turns out to be a sham in retrospect.

Be suspicious of anyone who wants to put pressure on you and force you to act immediately. It takes a lot of confidence to resist and not fall for seemingly unique opportunities. There's absolutely no point in jumping from stick to stick. Avoid constantly changing direction. Do not splinter your strength in hectic actionism. Get used to a certain stubbornness now. The strength is to be found in serenity.

MC<sub>tr</sub> ♁

Be awake, be curious

During this month you should aim to broaden your spiritual horizons. It is necessary to overcome a certain inertia and reduce excessive anxiety.

The old Chinese say that anyone who hides under the bed loses house and yard. So please stick your nose out, smell the morning air and get involved. Your curiosity is your greatest treasure right now.

Some have been left with their artistically created products because they simply did not know how to sell goods, on which markets they can be offered and what to ask for them. In order to be able to bargain properly, you have to come into contact with many people. You have to practice quick speech, train your tongue and be wide awake.

Maybe you're afraid of being ripped off. But it is of no use to you now if you crawl into a quiet little room. Go out among the people. Mingle with the crowd. Wander the streets. The more they move, the more often you engage in a chat, the more likely you are to hear news. You recognize the trend of the time and know how to move elegantly in the world. You get smarter every time. You will have a blast meeting new people. And by the way, you can do some interesting business.

MC<sub>tr</sub> ♆

Become more sensitive, develop sensitivity

During this month you should make it a goal to develop the gut feeling. What use is it to you if you can always meet new people and express yourself eloquently?

But deep down, you may not even know what you want and what is really good for you. Really valuable decisions have to mature. And you have to listen to your gut, that is, to the initially completely unconscious feelings.

You will not become more sensitive overnight. You can't force that. You can only create the conditions for it. Just go to a supermarket and choose the groceries based on your very spontaneous impulse. Feel your gut, your heart, when you meet people. Take the first impression, which is completely unconscious at first, seriously, even if it doesn't seem logically justifiable.

Be careful when someone tells you something. Do not answer immediately, but only when you are sure that you have really understood the other person. Over time you will develop great sensitivity and be able to act much more effectively. And what you do will also find much greater acceptance from those around you.

Show more of yourself, make an impression

During this month, you should aim to bring out a lot more of what's inside you. It's time for you to step onto the stage of the world. It doesn't matter so much what you portray, but how you do it. Be it emotions, thoughts, ideas, suggestions or completely spontaneous sensations: show yourself in an impressive way. Arouse the interest of those around you. And above all, don't be boring.

If you are a little embarrassed at first to turn your insides out, it doesn't matter. Over time that will settle down. You will certainly make a few mistakes at first. Perhaps you bother your fellow citizens with certain banalities and trivialities that nobody really cares about.

But at the same time your entertainment value increases enormously. It becomes more interesting to be in your presence. A lot of people will notice that. If things go well, you'll soon gather a whole circle of fans around you. And because you become more interesting, you also receive invitations from all sides. Society makes you happy. Over time, you seem happier and happier. This is not least due to the recognition you are given. Try it!

Get smarter, act smarter

During this month, you should aim to bring order back into your life. With everything that's happened lately, the small things of everyday life might be getting too much for you. Maybe you forgot to give things the right structure because of your zest for life or frustration with life. Chaos is spreading, even if you don't notice it at first glance.

Now, if you don't know where to start, just use tried and true strategies. It definitely helps to check the account balance thoroughly. Deal with outstanding bills. File documents. Write overdue letters. Or you approach the chaos by first reaching for an iron and vacuum cleaner. A thorough house cleaning can not hurt. This will clear your head and you can finally get on with the paperwork.

Maybe you don't do any of the above and go to the gym first. Sauna and massage wouldn't be bad either. The main thing is that you bring your body into shape. Then they have enough momentum to devote themselves to the overdue small stuff.

Whichever of these strategies you choose, all that matters is that you start cleaning up in the first place. Because as soon as you have started, you will notice how a new clarity automatically develops in your life, mentally and spiritually.

Become friendlier, create harmony

During this month, you should choose Diplomacy as your number one goal. It is now very important to cultivate and polish the relationships with fellow human beings. On top of that, you should get to know many interesting personalities. It remains to be seen whether there will also be great love among them. Everything is possible.

You may not know exactly how and with whom to start. Aren't you already an exceptionally friendly person? And if there is no harmony, why should it be your fault?

Astrologically speaking, the Lunar advice for this month is to try a new strategy in relation to other people. For example, try to look straight in the eyes of everyone you meet on the street. Surely you will see many grim faces. Some may even make you shudder.

But every now and then you meet a very warm-hearted person on the street with a radiant look. However, you only experience this if you let your gaze wander.

And then there is the matter of harmony: Make a conscious effort to take care of your fellow human beings this month. Make an extra effort to be kind. You will be amazed at how you will be thanked for this.

Find out the background, look deeper

During this month, your goal should be to scrape the surface finish off your surroundings and look behind the scenes. It is possible that some contemporaries will not like this at all. You will look into abysses. But on the other hand, it's also quite amazing how many people are grateful if you really deal with them.

You'll wonder why you should be digging in the dirt now. That only wakes up sleeping ghosts and turns people against you, creates discord. It may be this. But without the courage to go deep, it is not possible to carry out the changes and transformations that are really necessary. If you act skillfully, you will now come into contact with powerful and influential people.

At the moment you have enough courage to associate with impressive and maybe even frightening people. Your research will provide you with valuable knowledge. And that makes you useful to those in power. Your place in society now is right there, behind the scenes, where the real decisions are made.

Look into the distance, dare visions

During this month you should aim to get a wide view that looks to the horizon and beyond if possible.

With this ability, you will succeed in heading for far-reaching future projects. It also increases your optimism. Why are you doing this and that, what is the point of your daily efforts, where does all this lead? Perhaps you are currently wondering why you are dealing with such questions of meaning. Is everyday life not time-consuming enough? Do you also have time for great philosophical reflections?

Ultimately, you will find that a long-term perspective is tremendously motivating. This perspective will give you new courage not only for yourself but also for others. Maybe you should visit a church now. Or you go to places of worship of other religions. Do not just read newspaper articles, text messages or e-mails.

Don't limit contact with your acquaintances to the short telegram style that's common these days. Make an appointment with the aim of having longer and more detailed conversations. Avoid general statements and the usual phrases. Ask for more details. And ask for answers. It will do you good. And also your opponent.

See the facts, get more serious

During this month your goal should be to see the world as it is, and not as it might be meant to be. This can be quite painful. Because a large part of all hopes and longings that we indulge in are based on misjudgment of the real circumstances.

Normally we need the rose-colored glasses. We need illusions because we find it really hard to endure the unvarnished reality.

You might be wondering why they should put themselves through this hard-hitting realism now of all times. The answer is simple: so that you don't waste your energy in meaningless actions, so that you don't waste your money, so that you really and truly enjoy life.

Of course, there is a risk that you will be branded a Taurusy. People who say tough what's going on and what it's really about make themselves unpopular. However, these dry characters are also needed at certain times. Her advice is valued when resources are limited, when one has exhausted one's strength and hope for short-term success is fading.

You're exactly the right person right now that a coach or boss needs to go on a slimming diet when you need to cut mercilessly. This applies to private individuals and, in a figurative sense, also to business enterprises.

Be cheerful, awaken team spirit

During this month, make it your goal to be positive in public. Basically, idealism means looking after the interests of others. Why is it so much fun to put your interests aside?

Maybe it's because you suddenly become part of a social movement. The limitations and limitations of one's own ego dissolve. And you learn that a lot can be achieved together.

Perhaps you are considering what else such a public commitment could bring you. And you ask yourself whether you are generally suitable as a team player. Just try it out. You may get your friends all together this month, perhaps at a party. Or you have a strong community experience in your professional life. There can be problems there that can only be solved by joining forces. You may be selected to lead a related project.

However, such a sense of togetherness may also arise completely spontaneously this month. You go to a public event and suddenly you are part of the whole. Whatever the case, practice a new openness. You will notice the cheerfulness that suddenly takes possession of you.

Loosen incrustations, become softer

During this month, make it your goal to break through all kinds of rigid boundaries. This can be, for example, interpersonal relationships that have reached a point of zero. Nobody talks to each other anymore when the fronts are absolutely hardened.

The torpor can also be present in other areas, for example in society, in politics or in the economy. Or it is a matter of a very personal, inner state of torpor.

You may now be wondering how such a stagnation came about in the first place. They try to intellectualize the present state and analyze the situation. But now is not the right time for such mind games. It's about a lot more than just the mind.

This month they should sharpen your most subtle senses, becoming continuous and transparent like a tree leaf when held up to the sunlight. For example, if it is not possible to communicate with a person directly, then just contact them through body language. If it is a state within you, you can do the same thing. Treat yourself like a small child, like a dog or a cat. Be good to yourself!

Aspects of the MC in the Lunar

confidence helps

With the powerful radiation of the Sun at a favorable angle to the zenith, a corner point of the Lunar horoscope, you will be able to achieve this month's goal. You meet people who not only observe their surroundings, but also actively intervene in what is happening. This happens not so much through active action as through the power of personality.

immediate family circle, or in yourself, quite personally. Also the Moon has a pale, fickle light.

He retreats behind clouds too quickly when he feels like it. If he feels hurt in his childlike mind, doesn't get the expected recognition or doesn't feel accepted immediately with all his mimosa, ailments and changeable moods, things become critical.

Cool intellect helps

The jittery light of the fast-moving planet Mercury, Sextile to the zenith, a vertex of the Lunar chart, helps in reaching the monthly goal. You will meet people who analyze a situation very clearly and logically. These contemporaries can reduce even the most difficult conversational contact to a completely emotionless, purely factual level.

Such a character trait is particularly helpful when feelings are generally running haywire and possible solutions seem a long way off. You, too, will know how to use the intellectuality of Mercury more than ever for yourself. You may even give public speaking. Communication is definitely extremely important this month. However, there is also the danger of spoiling a topic despite all logic. It is divided into a thousand facets. With every new detail, you lose sight of the whole. Mercury likes to talk and likes to hear itself talk. This leads to intellectual self-gratification. There is a tendency towards sham solutions. It's good when things are discussed. But talking alone does not replace action, even if many Mercurians would like it to.

Cool intellect can do harm

The nervous light of the fast-moving planet Mercury in Opposition to the zenith, a vertex of the Lunar chart, interferes with the achievement of the monthly goal. You will meet people who can analyze a situation too clearly and logically. These contemporaries reduce even the most difficult conversational contact to an uncomfortably cool, purely factual level.

This is of little help when feelings are running wild and possible solutions seem far away. You personally will hardly know how to use the intellectuality of Mercury for yourself. Beware of public speaking. Communication is definitely a bit disturbed this month.

And there is a danger, despite all logic, of talking a topic to pieces. It is divided into a thousand facets. With every new detail, you lose sight of the whole. Mercury likes to talk and likes to hear itself talk. This leads to intellectual self-gratification. There is a tendency towards sham solutions.

It's good when things are discussed. But talking alone does not replace action, even if many Mercurians would like it that way.

Harmonic balance helps

With the gentle rays of Venus Sextile to the zenith, a vertex of the Lunar chart, diplomacy will play a very special role in reaching the monthly goal. You meet people who achieve more through their charm and skillful appearance than others with a concentrated package of power and strength and energy. You, too, will use the talent of seducing people to your advantage more and more.

Advance your career with tact and ambition. You can demonstrate a confident demeanor, enjoy indulgence and love to be invited. This will create many new contacts that will help your career.

The dark side of astrological Venus is its superficiality. The astronomical surface of the planet Venus can hardly be seen with a telescope. It is shrouded in a veil of hot gas clouds.

Venus likes to hide her real interests behind a smiling mask. That doesn't seem awkward to everyone. In addition, the planet is said to have a certain inertia. Some speak of passivity, others far more directly of laziness.
